

Nicholas Joseph

nickpjoseph210@gmail.com | (210) 771-9853

August 3, 2025

Hiring Team DHI Cooperative, Inc.
Columbus, Ohio

Aloha, DHI Hiring Team!

My name is Nick Joseph, and I'm thrilled to be throwing my name into the hat for the Project/Product Manager position at DHI Cooperative you have posted on Indeed. With 5 years of experience facing down complex problems with creative solutions, I think my blend of project management expertise and data engineering skills uniquely positions me to drive further product development for everything from your Johnes test kits to your Dairymetrics evaluation tool. Also, I've worked with farmers and cattle in the past, I am excited for this rare opportunity to combine tech and elbow grease into your mission of helping the dairy industry develop and adapt to align with market needs.

In my role as Project Lead at Noble Services, I successfully managed the complete sales cycle of all business, succeeding only because of the active listening skills I learned in the past and an undying dedication to customer service. Once clients were booked, it was my job to drive product development with both internal and external teams, doing everything from leading Agile ceremonies to doing the actual programming and Dev Team activities myself. My commitment to my clients in both defining and prioritizing product features based on customer feedback is what directly contributed to achieving five-star ratings across various review platforms, and it is this dedication I promise to bring to you and your Product teams.

At Data Clymer, I led cross-functional teams through Agile ceremonies and coordinated efforts to develop data-driven solutions that reduced source data extraction times by 98.9% - from once every day to once every 15-minutes. Taking a proactive approach to problem-solving and learning to manage stakeholder engagement and expectations taught me to clearly and effectively translate business needs into actionable product specifications, providing real value to users at the end of each product iteration.

I am particularly drawn to the opportunity at DHI Cooperative because I admire your commitment to creating innovative products that enhance user engagement within the agricultural community. I think the tech skills I've used in the past (SQL and Tableau for Data Analysis) - combined with my passion for the industry and an ability to communicate complex ideas clearly - will allow me to be the ideal voice of the customer throughout the product development lifecycle.

I know you're busy, so thank you for considering my application. I am eager to discuss how I can bring my strategic thinking and execution-focused mindset to you at DHI Cooperative so we can drive real business growth alongside genuine customer satisfaction.

Look forward to hearing from you soon,

Nicholas Joseph